So a fine was taken if any son of a nativus was placed out to learn a free handicraft, one the practice of which hereafter in a town or borough for a year and a day, would render him a freeman, if not claimed within that interval by his lord. If the nativus left one surviving relative (widow or son) the lord took half of all the deceased s chattels; if he left wife and son, the lord took a third. If the nativus had neither wife nor child, the lord took all. It does not provide for the case of a large family, or for one or more daughters, but only regards the heir and the dower of the widow. if he shall have a son and a wife, the lord shall...
