Excerpt: .then you can grow the elm or maple with top from 50 to 75 feet in diameter. What! you exclaim, would you recommend such a radical move, involving such an enormous expense? I would. You have spent enough to accomplish this ten times over and have nothing but objects of vexation. But I am sure you will not take such a rash step until you have some assurance that this would be a remedy. It is well to take cautious steps. Hence, I make you the following proposition, namely: If your park officials wilt do just as I tell them, I will plant eight small elms on that part of your Square shown in photo 109. These elms will in time completely cover that entire plat. I would form their heads not less than 15 feet high, so as not to obstruct any view....
