William B. Wilson. Secretary of Labor, temporary chairman, with Mr. Rowland B. Mahany acting as temporary secretary. Secretary Wilson. The conference will be in order. This beautiful and spacious assembly hall has been placed at our disposal by the governing board of the Pan American Union, and I know that I voice your sentiments when I express to the governing board my appreciation of the great courtesy they have shown in placing this room at our disposal. It has been the invariable practice since the building was erected that whenever any body of men assembled here that was not a pan-American body a welcome would be extended on behalf of the governing board by the Director General of the Pan American Union. Following that practice, I have the honor of presenting to you the director general, Mr. John Barrett. [Applause.] Mr. Barrett. Mr. Secretary, ladies, and gentlemen, I am not performing this duty because it is a pleasure to me, but in order that I may express to you, so to speak, the feeling of the Pan American Union on this occasion. In my capacity as its executive officer I bid you welcome to this noble building and its stately hall of Americas. When the President of the United States intimated that he would be pleased if the industrial conference could be assembled in this inspiring environment, it was a real pleasure for the Pan American Union to give its consent, although meetings are rarely held within its walls that do not have...
